Ideas for containers that Thrill, Fill and Spill:

Thriller: Plants with height which give bold impact

Filler: Plants that fill the width of the pot, creating bulk

Spiller: Plants that trail or cascade over the pot

Please NOTE: Planting perennials in containers /pots will need winter care

If some of the plants are on the small side or are still dormant leave them in their pots to continue their growth until they become larger and have a better root system, and the ground warms up. Planting around Mother's Day is a good rule of thumb, especially for tender plants such as tomatoes, annuals and herbs and late blooming perennials. Please keep them in a protected place and do not allow them to dry out and wilt, but remember that more plants are killed from over watering than for almost any other reason.
